ABOUT MALAYSIA

Malaysia is a Southeast Asian country occupying the Malaysian Peninsula and part of the island of Borneo. It is known for its beaches, rainforests, and mix of Malay, Chinese, Indian, and European influences. The sprawling capital, Kuala Lumpur, is home to colonial buildings, modern skyscrapers, lively shopping districts, and dotted with green spaces.

Nestled in between Thailand to the north and Singapore to the south, Malaysia is a federation that consists of 13 states (11 in West Malaysia, and two in East Malaysia) and three federal territories. As a federation, the governance of the country is divided between the federal and the state governments. Malaysia is a parliamentary democracy with a federal constitutional monarch, in which the DYMM Yang di-Pertuan Agong is the head of state and the Prime Minister of Malaysia is the head of government.

Since the early 1980s, Malaysia has steadily diversified its economy. Major changes include a departure from a reliance on the cultivation and export of raw materials, in particular natural rubber, to a focus on services, construction, manufacturing, and tourism. Tourism, in particular, has had a significant impact and, as a generator of foreign exchange.

Malaysia is also a tropical holiday destination, where temperatures fluctuate between 25 and 35 degree Celsius throughout the year. Nice breezes can be enjoyed on the many islands surrounding Malaysia, while the highlands offer cooler temperatures that do not exceed 25 degree Celsius.

ABOUT MTCP

The Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme (MTCP) was initiated at the First Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM) for Asia Pacific Region held in Sydney in February 1978. It was officially launched on 7th September 1980 at the 2nd CHOGM in New Delhi, India to signify Malaysia's commitment to South-South Cooperation, in particular Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries (TCDC).

The MTCP emphasises the development of human resources through the provision of training in various areas which is essential for a country's development. These areas include diplomacy and diplomatic practices, economy, good governance, education, tourism, environment, social development, halal industry, safety and security as well as technology, among others. As of 31st December 2023, 37,815 participants from 144 recipient countries have benefited from the various programmes offered under the MTCP.

For more information at MTCP Official Portal: <https://mtcp.kln.gov.my/> and MTCP Official Facebook Page: <https://www.facebook.com/MTCPMalaysia>

OBJECTIVES

- To share development experiences with other developing countries;
- To strengthen bilateral relations between Malaysia and other developing countries;
- To promote South-South Cooperation (SSC); and
- To promote Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries (TCDC)

TARGET GROUP

- This course will be relevant to junior and mid-career diplomats and government officers whose nature of work is related to diplomacy and management.

INSTITUTE OF DIPLOMACY AND FOREIGN RELATIONS

The Institute of Diplomacy and Foreign Relations, also known as IDFR, is the Ministry of Foreign Relations, Malaysia's training arm. IDFR conducts training programmes for Malaysian diplomatic officers as well as officers from other government ministries and agencies. Apart from the main diplomatic training courses, IDFR provides mid-career and follow-up professional skills training to enhance the professionalism of serving officers.

The training programmes are practitioner-oriented and are aimed at equipping officers with the skills and knowledge to meet the challenges they face in the conduct of their professional duties. The Institute provides training in two broad areas which are diplomacy and foreign relations, as well as foreign languages.

IDFR also offers training courses to more than 136 countries worldwide, namely to participants from developing countries under the Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme (MTCP), ASEAN, Colombo Plan and Commonwealth countries.

IDFR trainees have numerous opportunities to participate in seminars, workshops and round table discussions, and benefit from keynote addresses and lectures by distinguished visiting scholars and international leaders. Speakers under IDFR's Lecture Series have included Ban Ki Moon, Lee Hsien Loong, Sultan Hassanah Bolkiah, the late Kofi Annan, the late Nelson Mandela, the late Benazir Bhutto, the late Yasser Arafat, Mr. Pascal Lamy, Sir Mark Moody Stuart, the Honourable Nanaia Mahuta and most recently, Professor Kishore Mahbubani and Professor the Honourable Gareth Evans.

MTCP: ECONOMIC DIPLOMACY COURSE FOR INTERNATIONAL PARTICIPANTS

Given the complexity due to the globalisation of the world economy today, the role of diplomats therefore has become more significant and diverse; demanding them to have strong negotiating skills and a business sense at the same time; convincing foreign investors; knowing how to balance national economic interest and international trade opportunities; all in the spirit of advancing best national economic interests. This MTCP Economic Diplomacy Course under IDFR therefore aims to enhance the participants' knowledge on economic planning and policies, negotiations, investment and trade as well as to expose them to the changing geo-political, economic and strategic global environment. The course also covered an overview of Malaysia's efforts in transforming and improving its economic growth, governance and social development.
